Friendly conversation about God and Life

Many people find it difficult to connect with God.

Why?

Some may have had a bad religious experience in their youth. For others there are disquieting intellectual questions and doubts that no one has managed to address to their satisfaction. Still others suspect – or fear – that getting closer to God would limit their personal liberty or fun in life.

Whatever the reason may be, a large part of the adult population in any given place does not attend church with any regularity. Not only that they don't even see church as a place to connect with God.

Sentido a tu Vida (Meaning to your life) exists to help people connect with God by ...

- Building bridges of friendships based on common ground in order to arrive at a level of trust which allows people to talk comfortably about spiritual matters.

It is through authentic friendships that one “wins the right to be heard” about spiritual subjects.

- Providing resources and opportunities which help stimulate constructive conversations.
- Prayer. Asking God to do what only He can do: soften hearts and prepare them to hear Jesus' Good News.

The Open Forum

This is an informal meeting in which a core group of believers invite their spiritually seeking friends to participate in a 59-minute dialogue directed by a trained moderator. In general, we recommend a series of 3 or 4 meetings in order to develop the topics better.

There is a manual: The Open Forum: How to make it happen to explain and help prepare for an Open Forum.
